

The Wellstone Press Writers Program presents
Writing the Jewish Experience

A Writing Workshop (prose and poetry)

with

Willa Schneberg
award-winning writer and teacher

Participants will explore in our own words what we consider the Jewish experience. In this generative workshop, works by Gerald Stern, Adrienne Rich, Philip Schultz, Grace Paley, Yuvi Zalkow, and others., will be considered as motivations for writing our individual experiences of what it means to be Jewish.

Oregon Book Award winner Willa Schneberg has authored five poetry collections: In the Margins of the World; Box Poems; Storytelling In Cambodia, the letterpress chapbook The Books of Esther produced in conjunction with an interdisciplinary exhibit at the Oregon Jewish Museum, Fall of 2012, and the recently released Rending the Garment, Mudfish/Box Turtle Press. January 2015, Willa will be the guest of “Voices Israel: A Group of Poets who write in English” and will offer readings and workshops throughout Israel. Willa lives with her husband in Portland, Oregon. www.threewayconversation.org.
